The rapidly increasing number of philatelists who are turning to the collection of slogan cancels, together with a tremendous increase in the use of slogan cancels during recent years, have combined to bring about an urgent need for a complete catalog of all such material.

With the help of such prominent collectors as Col. Max G. Johl, F.L. Ellis, Walter Marple, Benjamin J. Senuta, Jr., Carl E. Lewis, U.S. Twentieth Century Postal Cancellation Society, New York Chapter, and many others who have taken the trouble to send slogans, tracings, and information, such a catalog has been attempted.

The catalog is in alphabetical order according to the first word of the slogan. No numbering system has been employed for the obvious reason that since new slogans are appearing every day, the addition of each new slogan would call for renumbering. Pricing has not been undertaken due to the facts that (1) there is no definite source of supply, and (2) any values given would be out of date on the day of issue of the catalog.

The main list consists of all slogans used in continental United States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. Those slogans used in the Philippines and Canal Zone, also Non - Slogan Machine Markings similar in appearance to slogans, are listed separately.

The first column gives the exact wording of the slogan, disregarding the division of the words into lines, due to the fact that the lines sometimes differ on the various machines.

The second column gives the town or city where the slogan was in use; where the same slogan was used in several cities, the various cities are not listed unless such information is vital.

The third column gives the year or years in which the slogan was used. One day use is noted when known.

The fourth column describes the kind of cancelling device, whether hand or machine, and in the case of the latter the commercial name of the machine is given. The Illustrated Identity Chart will aid the collector in identifying the various machines.

The slogans listed are only those used by the Post Office Department with the devices for the cancelling of stamps, and not the slogans used with the Pitney Bowes or Commercial Controls meter machines.

Grateful acknowledgement is given to previous publications, especially to TUCKER'S U.S. SLOGAN POSTMARK CATALOG, and to XX KILLERS, official organ of the U. S. TWENTIETH CENTURY POSTAL CANCELLATION SOCIETY, for the use of material and/or illustrations; also to numerous collectors, known and unknown in addition to those mentioned in paragraph 2, who have contributed actual slogans and/or drawings. Additional information and/or corrections will be greatly appreciated by the author and will be used, with due credit, in future supplements.

It is suggested that collectors who desire to keep up to date on current slogans should join the U.S. Twentieth Century Postal Cancellation Society, concerning which full information will be found elsewhere.

EDWARD S. BRECK

This book was compiled by Moe Luff and reproduced by Photo-Offset at the offices of the CALL BUSINESS SERVICE, Inc., 230 West 54th St., New York 19, from copy prepared by Moe Luff. Drawings of some of the slogans were made from copies submitted by collectors, except where actual copies or drawings from XX KILLERS and Tuckers Catalog were used. A few printed copies of slogans (submitted by collectors) were also used, original source unknown.

S I O G A N C A N C E L S

Slogan cancels are used in the " KILLER " part of the cancelling device by the Post Office Department in order to deface and cancel the postage stamp. Meter Slogans affixed by means of the Pitney Bowes or Commercial Controls meter machines are not classified as Slogan Cancels.

SIX TO ONE ODDS

The odds are about six to one that we have the elusive cover in stock for which you have been looking. Early 19th century, Exposition covers, slogans, Patriotics (all wars), covers of your State or region -- in short, just about any of your cover requirements. It will pay both of us if you remember, "If it's anything in U.S.A., See Herst First!"

U. S. TWENTIETH CENTURY POSTAL CANCELLATION SOCIETY

ITS AIMS ARE: To classify, illustrate and describe all Postal cancellations used during the 20th Century, insofar as possible.

To do research work in determining time and place of usage of the different cancellations - when first used and when discontinued, if no longer used - kinds of mail cancelled, etc.

To stimulate interest in this type of stamp collecting and to help collectors in determining what to look for and collect, how to collect how to classify, mount, etc. Actual collecting may be done of cancels on the stamps, on cover or on a small piece of cover (2" x 4").

To get the many collectors of cancellations acquainted with each other and with their ways of collecting. At present there are 2 local chapters that meet regularly; Chicago, Ill. and New York, N.Y.

To publicize the various cancellations with full sized illustrations in XX KILLERS, issued periodically to the members.

To accumulate files of cancellations for study and research (preferably on pieces of cover 2" x 4"). These files to be kept locally by groups or individual members, keeping all cancellations possible. From such files, by exchanging information between the different groups in different parts of the country, we expect to build up enough information to form a fairly complete history of 20th Century cancellations; these files can be started at once by individual members and later pooled and classified.

To promote Philately generally and provide a means for future collectors to learn the story of these cancellations while such information is still available.

The dues are $ 1.00 per year and this includes a one year subscription to XX KILLERS, the official publication of the Society.

ALL NEW MEMBERS will receive 150 different 2 x 4's while they are available. Send 3¢ stamped envelope for application blank and full details to;

MOE LUFF, USXXPCS, 1557 HOE AVENUE, NEW YORK 60, N.Y.

W H Y A N A Q U A R I U M ?

by Peter Smith*

There are many good reasons for an aquarium in every home. While in the past the keeping of goldfish was associated with the arduous nuisance of changing the water, mess and fuss and bother - modern science has shown us how to eliminate this objectionable feature entirely.

If the tank has plenty of plants, the right amount of light to make the plants grow, and you don't over feed the fish - a modern aquarium can go years without ever changing the water yet it will be pure and clear - with odd bright colored fish and lush plants.

Modern aquariums are decorative. They suit the small home as a means of having living thriving plants to soften the harshness of furniture and the walls. These water plants are not only the cheapest of house plants but are the hardiest - having no pests and growing with a minimum of care. The aquarium with its essential light serves as a lamp to brighten a dark corner or add interest to a problem nook.

As pets for the family, the aquarium fishes are the cheapest and the least trouble of all. No fish must be aired. No fish barks or howls. And only fish can be left for as long as a week without feeding or other attention without damage.

As a hobby the aquarium is unequalled - the lore is easily aquired and one soon finds that one is an expert and is exploring new territory as the science of Ichthyology is virgin compared to most sciences. There are endless processes to test and many discoveries have been made by amateurs with little previous experience.

An aquarium can be self supporting. The excess fish and plants can be traded or sold for additional supplies from most fish dealers.

For the frustrated gardener - the aquarium in the living room can be a substitute for the five acres and independence. There is the fun of working on the design of the planting and the same artistic pleasure in a well planted tank that the flower arranger or gardener finds with so much greater labor and expense.

There are many other values in keeping an aquarium in a room. For example the water evaporating slowly from the aquarium humidifies the air and is often recommended by physicians for this purpose as well as for the important therapeutic effects of this quiet relaxing hobby. Many persons with exacting high tensioned jobs find that they can gaze at their fish swimming slowly about the tank with the same sureness that is found in a fire place. The cares of the day slide into the background as one watches the antics of the fish.

Children are fascinated by the fish as much as adults. They quickly learn the names and habits and are most reliable in the chores of feeding. And through the odd reproductive habits of the fish parents find an excellent channel for sex education that informs and illustrates simply and clearly.

Cost is low in the purchase of an aquarium. Any budget that can afford a cat or dog will find that fish are less than half the cost of a pure breed puppy and the annual maintenance is less than the cost of one day's food for Fido.
